أَنْبِنْز وَ رَأْسِ الْغُولِ Mtungaji: Mgeni bin Fagihi, c. 1850

This is a transcription of the MS sample (reproduced here on p5) included in Leo van Kessel's edition of Utenzi wa Rasi 'IGhuli by Mgeni bin Faqihi (Tanzania Publishing House, Dar Es Salaam, 1979). This was composed around 1850, and at over 4,500 stanzas is the longest Swahili ballad in existence. The editor used four MS, but which one the sample was taken from is not specified - comparing the published text (the green line below) with the MS text above it shows a number of differences, and one stanza from the MS (between 2285 and 2286) does not appear in the published text. The copyist of this MS writes only 3 vowels, uses ain with dot to represent 'ng[w]', and tends not to mark nasalised or labialised consonants (e.g. وَكُتُونَ , wakitunza, 2283a; کُتُہ, kwa Tumwa, 2285c).
